4 Arrested In Toronto On Conspiracy Charges

TORONTO (CP)—R. A. Irwin, divisional registrar of the mobilization section of National Selective Service, and three other men were arrested today by Royal Canadian Mounted Police on charges of conspiracy.

The others arrested were Robert A. Allen, former Toronto alderman and former Liberal M.P.P. for Toronto-Riverdale; Naiffe M. Stephens and Norman Stephens, brothers.

The four are charged with conspiring to impede the national selective service mobilization regulations.

Police gave no details, an R.C.M.P. spokesman saying: "We are under orders not to discuss the case. There will be a statement from the labor minister and I must refer you to him."

The charges arise out of deferments from military service, it is stated. At least 40 other men of military age who are alleged to have obtained deferment may be charged as delinquents failing to report for service. It is reported other arrests from the selective service office are unlikely.

The men were arrested this morning and taken to R.C.M.P. headquarters. They will not appear in court until tomorrow.

R. J. Davis, inspector with the selective service branch at Ottawa, has been appointed temporary division registrar here.

Living Cost Up; No Bonus Change

TORONTO (CP)—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today that the cost-of-living index advanced from 118.1 at May 1, to 118.5 at June 1, but the change did not affect the cost-of-living bonus paid to workers in a wide range of industries.

Next date for adjusting the index will be Aug. 15, on the basis of the cost-of-living index for July 1. The adjustment is made quarterly.

The greater part of the increase during May resulted from upward movements in the prices of foods, but the indexes for fuel and light, clothing and miscellaneous items registered fractional increases, the bureau said.

The food index advanced from 129.9 to 130.9," the bureau said. "Prices for eggs, meats, potatoes and oranges were higher, although butter averaged a cent a pound lower."

In the Commons at Ottawa this afternoon Labor Minister Mitchell said the others arrested with the divisional registrar were not connected with the government in any way.

Capt. D. R. Learoyd attended Pte. Adair at the military hospital. She is now being attended by Dr. J. S. MacCallum.

Pte. Adair stated she had planned to either spend Monday night with her sister in Victoria, or return to Vancouver on the midnight boat.

Chiang Kai-shek Promises Chinese Victory in 2 Years

CHUNGKING (AP)—Gen. Chiang Kai-shek told China today on the eve of the sixth anniversary of the outbreak of the conflict with Japan that the time limit for utter defeat of the aggressor "cannot exceed two years."

"In the seventh year of our war of resistance," he said in his anniversary message, "an offensive that will deal crushing blows to the enemy will be started in various theatres of the world and there will be an unending stream of victories."

Police gave no details, an R.C.M.P. spokesman saying: "We are under orders not to discuss the case. There will be a statement from the labor minister and I must refer you to him."

His message was one of a series of confident predictions from Chinese leaders of a complete Allied victory and elimination of Japan as a military power.

PASSAGE OPEN

The Generalissimo emphasized the "utmost importance to the entire war situation" of the cleanup of Axis forces in north Africa, "from now on the lines of transportation between the Allies in the east and west will be kept open without interruption and the European and Asiatic war theatres will be merged into one."

"As things stand now," he said, "the initiative in the different theatres of war has passed into the hands of the Allies, while Allied military power, economic strength and war production are daily increasing."

"Henceforth the aggressor has no alternative but to await his doom. There is no longer any possibility of his making further sneak attacks and the time limit of his utter defeat cannot exceed two years."

It was the first time Chiang ever had set such a time limit.

DECISIVE YEAR

"The current year," he said, "is the decisive year of the present world war during which the foundation of the United Nations' ultimate victory will be laid." The resistance of China's armed forces and civilians "forced the Japanese invader to exhaust much of his war resources and retain a great part of his strength in the Chinese theatre," he added.

"At the same time our armed resistance has made it possible for our Allies to carry out satisfactorily their production programs and strengthen their fighting power in various war theatres."

Army Girl Survives Four-Story Fall From Hotel Window

Pte. Francis Adair, C.W.A.C., Vancouver, was resting comfortably at St. Joseph's Hospital today after a miraculous escape from death when she fell four stories from a six-story St. James Hotel window onto a skylight of the St. James Cafe.

City detectives reported Pte. Adair was pushed from the window by a sailor.

According to police records, Pte. Adair, who stated she was 18 years of age and was A.W.O.L. from the Vancouver Barracks, was entertained by the sailors in their room.

She said they had been drinking and she and another Vancouver C.W.A.C. were preparing to leave the room at midnight when the sailor, who is stationed at H.M.C.S. Givenchy, rushed at her and pushed her. She was sent across the room, crashing through the window.

SUFFERS FRACTURE, BRUISES

She fell four stories onto a building skylight. Her injuries included a fractured ankle and extensive bruises, cuts and shock.

The injured girl was removed from the roof by H. Wesley and Lee Richmond of Prince Rupert, and was then taken in police patrol to Victoria Military Hospital, but later was transferred to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Capt. D. R. Learoyd attended Pte. Adair at the military hospital. She is now being attended by Dr. J. S. MacCallum.

Pte. Adair stated she had planned to either spend Monday night with her sister in Victoria, or return to Vancouver on the midnight boat.

Constables Stan Cornish, Samuel McKenzie and Angus Munro attended at the scene. Further investigation are being made by Detectives Henry Jarvie, P. Richards and George Clayards.

19 Shipyard Workers Drown at Halifax In Tug Disaster

HALIFAX (CP)—Rolled over by a freighter with which she was running parallel, the Halifax Shipyards Ltd. tug Erg was sent to the bottom in Bedford basin here this morning, and took 19 men to their deaths with her.

The 55-ton tug, generally used by the shipyards to carry welding equipment for repairing ships, was conveying a large crew of welders and electricians to a ship in the basin when the accident occurred.

According to the information available, the tug was traveling alongside of the freighter, with about 20 yards separating the two, when they suddenly came together, side on. The tug was rolled over several times as the freighter continued its course.

R. J. R. Nelson, general manager of the Halifax Shipyards Ltd., said all men aboard the tug were employees of the shipyards.

It was stated poor visibility may have been the cause of the accident. The collision occurred shortly after they had entered Bedford basin through the narrow gap from Halifax Harbor proper. Ships ordinarily use the basin as an anchorage.

The tug, built in 1915, was formerly known as the Sambo before being named Erg. She was a recovered wreck.

SOUTH PACIFIC HEADQUARTERS (AP)—U.S. forces have gained control of Vangunu Island, southeast of New Georgia Island, in addition to Rendova Island, in the Solomon Islands campaign, which began last Aug. 7 and went into a new phase with the invasion of the Munda area.

The Japanese, on the other hand, have lost 65 to 80 ships, some of those reported as hit having been listed as only probably sunk.

Vangunu Captured By Allied Forces

SOUTH PACIFIC HEADQUARTERS (AP)—U.S. forces have gained control of Vangunu Island, southeast of New Georgia Island, in addition to Rendova Island, in the Solomon Islands campaign, which began last Aug. 7 and went into a new phase with the invasion of the Munda area.

The Japanese, on the other hand, have lost 65 to 80 ships,

10,000 Germans Killed in 1/2 Days

Earlier the Russians had killed more than 10,000 Germans in the first 36 hours of the battle, waged on a front where both sides had massed huge armies, apparently their strongest forces.

Farther north in the Orel-Kursk sector of the violently erupting 165-mile battlefield, "all enemy attacks were repulsed with serious losses," the communiqué said.

The special communiqué was broadcast by the Moscow radio and recorded by the Soviet Monitor.

The two-day Nazi tank toll of 1,000 was more than enough to equip four German divisions. The destruction of 111 planes raised the two-day total to 314. The whole picture was one of the greatest wholesale destruction of mechanized war might in all history.

Powerful aerial opposition was expected to continue, since the Japanese are not inclined to give up anything without a fight.

Fires at the enemy air base of Villa, Kolombangara Island, on the west side of Kula Gulf, and at Bairoko anchorage, New Georgia, on the east side, were set both by shells from warships and bombs dropped by medium bombers the night of July 4 and in the pre-dawn of July 5. Later, dive bombers dropped 1,000-pound bombs on Bairoko, which is above the menaced enemy air base of Munda, also in New Georgia.

Over Rendova, which is within artillery shelling distance of Munda, the Japanese sent 40 Zeros Monday in a continued effort to balk expansion of action in that sector. U.S. fighter planes shot down two of the Zeros and dispersed the remainder, while losing one plane. The Japanese now have lost 157 planes over Rendova since the island was invaded June 30.

Allied Bombers Score Big Air Victory In Mid-East 42 Enemy Fighters Shot Down In Raid

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA (AP) — Allied air forces which shot down 30 German fighters, struck paralyzing blows at Axis resistance. Monday in battles for air supremacy over Sicily and Sardinia, it was announced today.

The smashing aerial offensive against the Italian outpost islands went through its third straight day with bombers roaring over Gerbini, Marsala, Licata, Sciacca and Catania in Sicily and Villacidro in Sardinia—all of them bases for the defending Axis aerial fleets.

In 24 hours ended Monday, 42 enemy planes were shot down against a loss of 12 Allied planes, it was stated officially.

More than 60 U.S. heavy bombers based in the Middle East joined in the devastating raids, shaking Messina in Sicily with nearly 375,000 pounds of bombs, a communiqué of the U.S. 9th Air Force declared.

Hits blanketing the ferry terminal installations in Messina "caused extensive damage," the communiqué said, and bombs were laid on railway tracks, a roundhouse, a warehouse, freight yards, oil tanks and barracks by the Liberators striking in three waves. One string of bombs "fell across the Lazaretto mole."

The Liberators downed three enemy planes and returned without loss themselves. BAG 30 NAZIS

Heavy bombers striking at Gerbini won what is considered one of the greatest single-mission victories of the entire Mediterranean campaign by knocking down 30 out of more than 100 German fighters attacking them.

Despite the spectacular and seemingly suicidal tactics of the Germans, the bombers successfully reached and bombed Gerbini, where they showered explosives over the main airfield and nine satellite fields.

War Only Question In South African General Election

LONDON (CP) — The shortest and what is considered here the most critical election in South Africa's history will culminate Wednesday when the people of the Union vote to endorse or reject the policies of Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts since he took over the government in 1939 and threw the Union's entire resources wholeheartedly on the side of the Allies.

The issue is clear. Smuts has declared the war is the only matter to be considered. His position on that point is as emphatic as the position of his chief opponent, Dr. D. F. Malan, leader of the Nationalist Party, who has said "If we gain power our policy is to cease active participation in the war."

87 IN LAST HOUSE

In the last House the coalition of United, Dominion and Labor parties and three native representatives held 87 seats against 66 for the combined opposition, consisting of the Nationalists, Oswald Pirow's New Order Group, N. C. Havenga's Afrikaner Party and a single independent. Seats of the three European members of Parliament representing the natives are not involved in this election since their term of office has not expired.

Havenga's policies are viewed as more moderate than those of Malan, but equally dogmatic. His party would not help the Allies' war effort and wants the Union to become a republic and concentrate on domestic rather than international affairs.

Pirow's New Order Group is considered Fascist-minded and Pirow himself has publicly declared for an Axis victory.

London newspaper correspondents in South Africa without exception predict a victory for Smuts with a majority of up to 40 seats.

Hunt Bearded Man

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP) — Tales of a heavily-bearded man wearing an air force uniform and haunting the woods near here have been circulating the past few days, and although there have been no reports of airmen missing from stations in this area, air force officials said they had requested police to undertake a search.

Car's Load Disappears

SARNIA, Ont. (CP) — A shortage of ice in Sarnia necessitated the importation of the commodity from Port Huron, Mich. Usually shipped in railway refrigerator cars, one shipment of ice was sent over in an ordinary box car.

When men opened the car to unload it they found the car empty—the ice had melted in transit.

delegation's proposal for limitation of armaments was rejected.

While Neville Chamberlain, who preceded Winston Churchill as Prime Minister of Britain, rejected the idea of "intentional" attacks against civilians in June, 1938, the white paper said that at a secret meeting of the "Allied War Council" Nov. 17, 1939, the bombing of the Ruhr was discussed. Chamberlain was quoted as being reluctant to begin "attacks against open towns" because "it is impossible to hit them without involving the civilian population."

The white paper went on to quote French general staff papers, alleged to have been captured after the fall of France, which detailed the Anglo-French bombing of Germany, which in the last phase was to be directed against economic and industrial targets.

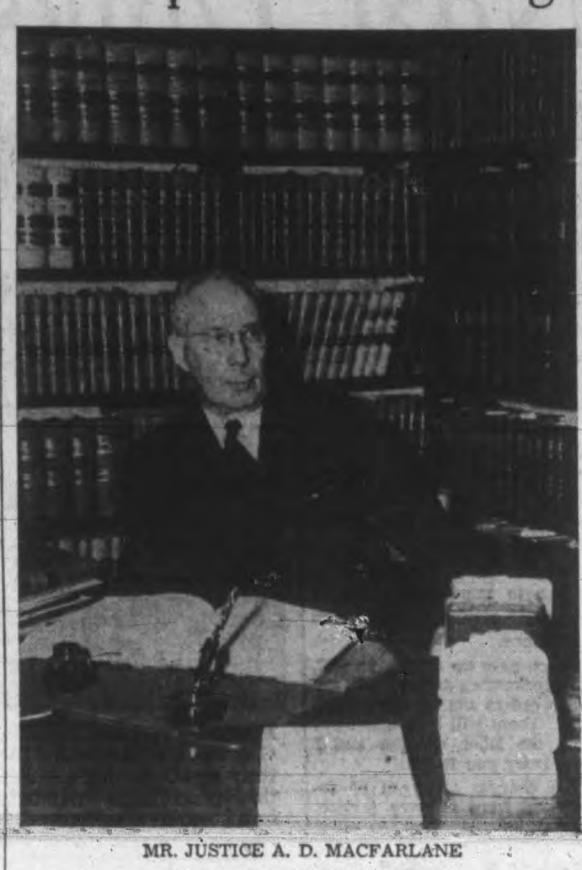

Without mentioning the 40,000 British civilians killed and the 120,000 wounded in German air raids on Britain, the white paper blandly asserted that "German efforts have failed to affect the determination of the enemy to use air terror as a plan thorough in the last detail for the destruction of Europe."

Asserting the destruction of towns and the deaths of thousands of women and children were a "flaming accusation against the two mainly responsible for the war—Churchill and Roosevelt"—the Nazi white paper threatened to exact "eyes for eye, tooth for tooth" reprisals.

The white paper was described by DNB, German news and propaganda agency, in a Berlin radio broadcast. During the reading a ghost voice gave a running commentary asking "Why is no white book published on Hitler's crimes and barbarism?"

QUOTES CONFERENCE
In its efforts to prove Britain's guilt, the white paper went back to the disarray of operations in the west, British air attacks on non-military objectives in Germany quickly increased."

Man of Many Interests New Supreme Court Judge

MR. JUSTICE A. D. MACFARLANE

Appointment of Arthur Dougias MacFarlane, K.C., to B.C.'s Supreme Court marks a new stage in a varied career which has been pointed, from early youth, towards the higher fields of law.

A businessman and newspaperman with a brilliant scholastic record, the new member of the provincial bench had decided on law as his vocation even in student days and used the other crafts as stepping stones to his goal.

The new judge assumes his post with a sound and wide background not only in his chosen profession, but in literature generally. English, classical and more up-to-date, has been his engrossing hobby. "The Oxford Book of Verse" is his favorite volume.

Born in Prince Edward County, Ont., Dec. 11, 1882, the son of the late Rev. James and Mrs. Caroline Maria MacNiece MacFarlane, he was educated in Ontario public schools and matriculated at the age of 16 from Lindsay College Institute.

Turning his studies to practical legal, he graduated as gold medalist at Albert Business College, Belleville, Ont. and spent five years in business, mainly in the publishing field, before resuming his studies at the University of Toronto.

Mr. Justice MacFarlane secured his B.A. from that institution in 1907, graduating at the head of the first class of honor students in modern history, the course he took along with political science, both courses being preparatory to law.

In his senior year he was editor of university magazine, "Acta Victoria."

NEWSPAPER EXPERIENCE
For a short time after graduation he worked on the Toronto Daily Star before returning to the business field with the Harris Abattoir Co., Toronto, then operating under J. Stanley McLean, now head of Canada Packers.

Mr. MacFarlane came west in Sept. 1907. While with the Winnipeg Telegram, he met the late Duncan Ross, federal member for Yale-Cariboo, and was persuaded to proceed to B.C., where he apart from reading, his other hobbies include golf—but he doesn't talk much about his game.

Ganges I.O.D.E. Plans
Dance at Fulford
The paper also cited Hitler's orders to the German air force in response to President Roosevelt's appeal against the bombing of civilians that operations be restricted to military objectives.

The procedure of the United States army air force, the white paper went on, proved that Mr. Roosevelt's appeal was "purely designed to mislead the public."

The paper declared that a statement in the House of Commons Sept. 9, 1939, confirmed that the Luftwaffe in Poland was attacking only military objectives, but despite frequent appeals by Hitler for humanity and reason, the R.A.F. began a series of attacks "against the civilian population."

"In spite of this, the Luftwaffe was extremely restrained in the fight against England while at the beginning of operations in the west, British air attacks on non-military objectives in Germany quickly increased."

Labor Board Rejects Streetcar Men's Pay Boost Request

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Regional War Labor Board has rejected the application of the Street Railwaysmen's Union for a blanket 10-cent an hour wage increase, Charles Stewart, union president, said today. The rejection was based on the fact the existing agreement between the union and the British Columbia Electric Railway Co. will not expire until March 1, 1944, Stewart said.

In seeking the increase for all categories, including conductors, motormen and maintenance crews, the union said a new agreement was "not needed, but that the increase could be arranged through a supplementary agreement."

A Monday night meeting of the membership did not consider the question of some 300 junior employees who threatened to quit work a week ago unless granted a basic wage rate of 69 cents an hour plus 4% cents hourly cost of living bonus.

Stewart said no action would be taken pending decision of the R.W.L.B. on a second application by the union that six months be lopped off the 18-month sliding scale period for junior employees and a request that students be paid 30 cents plus 4% cents bonus during their two to three-week training.

Under the existing agreement junior employees receive 59 cents plus 2% cents bonus an hour for the first six months, moving up to 66 cents at the end of 18 months, while students receive no pay.

Uphold Sentences Of Courtmartial

OTTAWA (CP) — Petitions of three officers and one soldier from sentences imposed by a court-martial at Quebec for alleged offences in the administration of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps have been dismissed by the Governor-General-in-Council, it was learned today.

The men concerned were some of a group of army personnel found guilty some time ago. They were the only ones who appealed and, under army regulations, their appeal brought the decision of the court before the confirming authority, which is the Governor-General-in-Council.

The petitioners asked for revocation of the finding and sentence of the court-martial. The petition was not granted.

A copy of an order-in-council containing the decision has been sent to each of the petitioners.

'Made in Japan'
annoys Soldiers

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—The mark, "Made in Japan," was a red flag to U.S. soldiers stationed in this area when they found it on prizes awarded at an American Legion-sponsored carnival here Monday. Army men took the offending trinkets they had won at games or purchased at stands into a nearby park and smashed them against trees. They were joined by local children, who followed suit.

Legion officials said they did not realize the source of the knicknacks and asked carnival operators to withdraw them.

Commons Decides to Delay Redistribution

Tributes to Manion

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister King in the House of Commons Monday afternoon paid tribute to Hon. R. J. Manion, former national Conservative leader.

Army men took the offending trinkets they had won at games or purchased at stands into a nearby park and smashed them against trees. They were joined by local children, who followed suit.

Legion officials said they did not realize the source of the knicknacks and asked carnival operators to withdraw them.

Mr. King spoke of Dr. Manion's long association with parliament and said his name would stand high in the honor roll of statesmen who tried to give the best in them to the service of their country.

Justice Minister St. Laurent, who moved the resolution, was accused by his Quebec colleagues of raising language, racial and religious issues without provocation, and heard the same charge from Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House Leader.

There was one division, in which seven Liberals and two Independents, all from Quebec, stood against all other members. Among them was Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Liberal, Richelieu-Vерчères, Que., former minister of the present government. All official opposition groups supported the government in its proposal.

Mr. Graydon took Mr. St. Laurent to task for introducing into his speech on the resolution such matters as racial and religious controversies, Quebec's contribution to the war effort and failure of English-speaking members to learn the French language.

Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Lib., Richelieu-Vерчères, Que., who was a fellow member of Dr. Manion's through all the latter's time in the House of Commons, paid tribute in the French language.

He said Dr. Manion had been a man with a "happy nature." His wit had enriched the records of parliament.

John Blackmore, New Democracy leader, paid tribute to Dr. Manion as one who had done his best to serve Canada and who deserved well of his fellow Canadians.

Mr. Graydon took Mr. St. Laurent to task for introducing into his speech on the resolution such matters as racial and religious controversies, Quebec's contribution to the war effort and failure of English-speaking members to learn the French language.

Mr. St. Laurent said members could visualize the situation which would arise if it were attempted to amend the constitution to allow Quebec a larger number of representatives in proportion to the membership of the House. It would be "a reasonable thing to do, and if the trend of population does not change, it is something which will have to be done some day."

But it was like the question of the national flag. Prime Minister King had indicated it was not the time to raise a controversy over the flag and the House evidently had approved of this attitude.

No Change In Ridings Till War Has Ended

OTTAWA (CP)—A resolution asking the British Parliament for constitutional authority to postpone redistribution of federal representation until after the war was adopted in the House of Commons Monday night after a short but stormy debate.

Justice Minister St. Laurent, who moved the resolution, was accused by his Quebec colleagues of raising language, racial and religious issues without provocation, and heard the same charge from Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House Leader.

There was one division, in which seven Liberals and two Independents, all from Quebec, stood against all other members. Among them was Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Liberal, Richelieu-Vерчères, Que., former minister of the present government. All official opposition groups supported the government in its proposal.

Mr. Graydon took Mr. St. Laurent to task for introducing into his speech on the resolution such matters as racial and religious controversies, Quebec's contribution to the war effort and failure of English-speaking members to learn the French language.

Mr. St. Laurent said members could visualize the situation which would arise if it were attempted to amend the constitution to allow Quebec a larger number of representatives in proportion to the membership of the House. It would be "a reasonable thing to do, and if the trend of population does not change, it is something which will have to be done some day."

But it was like the question of the national flag. Prime Minister King had indicated it was not the time to raise a controversy over the flag and the House evidently had approved of this attitude.

DISUNITY DANGERS

Mr. St. Laurent continued: "On the merits no one can deny that it would be reasonable for the Canadian nation to signify its national status by a distinctive national flag and a distinctive national anthem." The selection of the flag and the anthem would be apt to give rise to differences and debate in critical days when the war demanded all attention.

The same must be said of any attempt to settle now the proper rule for a fair proportional representation of all provinces in the House, Mr. St. Laurent said. Serious racial and religious controversies could arise over any proposal to decrease Ontario representation to the end that the voting strength of Quebec representatives would be capable of rendering greater influence in the House.

Mr. St. Laurent said he hoped that the time would come when it would be possible for Canada to deal with these matters without going to the Throne with petitions such as that before the House.

The resolution was a petition, which will be embodied in a similar Senate resolution, asking the King to have the British Parliament amend the British North America Act so that redistribution need not be proceeded with until the first session after the House.

The act provides that this redistribution must be made every 10 years, based on the last decennial census, in this case the census taken in 1941. The last redistribution bill was in 1934.

AID FOR ITALIANS

Part and parcel of this attack undoubtedly is the phenomenon of the sudden appearance of fresh Nazi aerial support for the Italians in the battle for Sicily. Apparently Hitler's harassed intuition has done a sudden back-flip and made him revise his decision to leave it entirely to Benito Mussolini to stand off the Allied invasion.

The Germans probably have been impelled to undertake this belated offensive either for the purpose of forestalling a Russian drive—which Berlin has been predicting—or because they have decided they are fairly safe from an immediate Allied invasion of western Europe. Both factors may enter into the situation.

WOULD BOOST QUEBEC

A redistribution this year on the basis of the 1941 census would cost Saskatchewan four seats and Manitoba three. It would mean that Quebec, whose representation of 65 members was fixed by the B.N.A. Act, would remain unchanged while the total representation dropped, thus increasing Quebec's proportionate power in the house.

Mr. St. Laurent said it had been asserted this situation had been the result of a conspiracy "of that man in the Vatican and that cardinal in Quebec" to get control of the government of Canada.

The assertion had been made that Quebec had not supplied its quota of men in the armed forces during the First Great War, and had refrained from doing so to save its men to fatten an increasing number of French-Canadian veterans.

"I deny both the fact and the design," he continued.

"I do not wish to provoke controversy, but I merely wish to indicate the kind of controversy which it seems desirable to avoid."

TO AVOID DIVISIONS

The resolution was introduced, Mr. St. Laurent said, because of the desirability of avoiding in wartime the bitter controversy that would arise from the attempts to do justice to all provinces on the complex question.

Prime Minister King resorted to a seldom-used parliamentary device to prevent introduction of amendments which would open the way for discussion of matters not definitely contained in the resolution.

After opposition group leaders had endorsed the resolution, Mr. King moved that "the question be now put," which, while it permitted each member to make a formal speech on the resolution, prohibited any amendments to it.

When the discussion ended, the division was on the Prime Minister's "previous question" motion which carried, 116 to nine.

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The opening of the heavy German offensive along a 165-mile front in the Orel-Belgorod sector—the bloody cockpit of the Russo-Nazi battlefield south of Moscow—may signal the breaking of the great storm which has been hanging over Europe for weeks.

Whether this is a final all-out attempt by a desperate Hitler to crush the Russian armies isn't yet apparent. But it's a major operation which already has produced fierce fighting, and it might easily develop into the big showdown.

The Germans probably have been impelled to undertake this belated offensive either for the purpose of forestalling a Russian drive—which Berlin has been predicting—or because they have decided they are fairly safe from an immediate Allied invasion of western Europe. Both factors may enter into the situation.

BLOW IN WEST?

A far more interesting point is what reaction the Nazi offensive in Russia may have on the Allied plans for ultimate invasion of western Europe. With Hitler heavily engaged on the eastern front we have a situation which rather invites Allied invasion of France. Quite likely Premier Stalin foresaw this development when he renewed his appeal the other day for an opening of a second front in the west.

In any event, Hitler has opened the gates to the arena, and we are likely to see the conflict swell to a fierce pitch before Prime Minister Churchill's leaves of autumn begin to fall.

Sikorski's Death

Heavy Loss For Allies—Churchill

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today that the death of Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski, premier of the Polish government in London who was killed Sunday in an air crash at Gibraltar, is "one of the heaviest strokes we have sustained."

It was advised that the mishap was due to engine failure.

The Polish party was en route to London from the Middle East, where the Premier had been visiting a large contingent of Polish troops. The Middle Eastern group is the largest Polish unit fighting with the United Nations.

Transport Shortage Cut Wheat to U.S.

OTTAWA (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner told the Commons Monday night that due to lack of transportation facilities, less than 100,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat have been moved to the United States, although there is a market for 200,000,000 bushels.

Representatives of the Polish government looked on from the galleries as the Prime Minister solemnly told the House that "we learned yesterday that the cause of the United Nations has suffered a most grievous loss."

"It is my duty to express the feeling of this House and pay tribute to the memory of the great Polish patriot and staunch ally, Gen. Sikorski," Mr. Churchill went on.

PEOPLE TRUSTED HIM

Sikorski, who in addition to being premier had served as commander-in-chief of the Polish armed forces, "commanded the devoted loyalty of the Polish people, now tortured and struggling in Poland itself," Mr. Churchill said.

"He personally directed the movement of resistance which has maintained ceaseless warfare against German oppression in spite of sufferings as terrible as any nation ever has endured."

"This resistance will grow in power until at the approach of the liberating armies it will exterminate the German ravagers of the homeland."

Sikorski's body, meanwhile, lay in state today in the Roman Catholic Cathedral in Gibraltar.

Beside it lay the body of Gen. Tadeusz Klimiecki, chief of the Polish general staff, who met death in the same accident. A guard of honor composed of Polish officers was posted at the cathedral, where a solemn, pontifical mass of requiem will be celebrated tomorrow.

DAUGHTER KILLED

The crash of the four-engined Liberator took the lives of 12 other persons, including Gen. Sikorski's 29-year-old daughter, Mrs. Sophia Lesniewska; Col. Andrzej Marecki, chief of the Polish army operational section and an expert in military science; Col. Gralewski, Lieut. Pobleski, Sikorski's naval aide; Adam Kulakowski, the premier's private secretary, and Col. Victor Alexander Cazalet, a member of the British Parliament.

Two other British subjects killed in the crash were announced today as W. W. Lock and a man named Pinder, who was otherwise unidentified. Lock was en route to England from the Persian Gulf area, where he had been a representative of the Ministry of War Transport. He had been bearing down on him.

German and Italian airmen Sunday gave British and U.S. squadrons attacking Sicily the heaviest opposition since the height of the Tunisian campaign.

But it isn't yet clear how much air power Hitler has shifted to Italy or may be prepared to send there.

He undoubtedly can spare a limited amount of air power to help Mussolini—providing he is safe from invasion across France. This aid might change the Mediterranean picture considerably in that it would make the Allied task of invasion tougher than has been anticipated.

Russian Front Blazes

BY THE TIME THIS IS READ THE flare-up between Orel and Belgorod on the Russo-German front will be two days old. To what extent it will expand beyond its present extent of approximately 170 miles will naturally depend upon the ebb and flow of battle. So far our gallant Allies seem to have met the long-expected and overdue Nazi onslaught with a withering fire which has resulted in the destruction of 738 German tanks, while the Luftwaffe's casualties are placed in the Moscow communiqué at more than a couple of hundred during the first 36 hours of the clash. Human losses for the Wehrmacht are put at the least 10,000 killed.

According to the latest available information the armies of the Soviet Union and the enemy between the two points which mark the scene of action are fairly evenly matched—each with approximately 140 divisions—but experts are of the opinion that Russian artillery and airpower will be found superior to that of the attackers. Only the progress of the battle will confirm or disprove this calculation. If they can be taken at their face value, however, last night's and this morning's communiques from Moscow suggest that our Allies were well prepared for this obviously desperate move by the German high command. Repeated raids by Soviet airmen behind the enemy lines west of Orel in recent weeks may have forced the Nazi strategists to break the 100-day lull in large scale fighting on the eastern front. If this is intended to be an all-out lunge, and if it should succeed to any extent, developments in the west may be hastened. But at this writing nothing more than infinitesimal bends in the Russian defensive system appear to have resulted from the expenditure of much Nazi blood and large quantities of material.

Until the battle has progressed further, of course, speculation on its outcome or its effect on Allied strategy in the west will be of little avail. But it should not be forgotten that the Nazi high command is saturated with the lessons of the first Great War. Military history has proved what a mistake the German offensive was in 1918. It is possible, moreover, that if the Tunisian campaign had lasted until August, the politicians in Berlin would have forced the Generals to launch an offensive on the eastern front before now. The collapse in north Africa may have been secretly welcome to a few at supreme military headquarters, because it provided a desired excuse for not again attacking in Russia without at least a pause for fresh thought on the subject.

For the moment, therefore, it is sufficient for the laymen in the Allied world to watch how this battle goes. Neither Mr. Churchill nor Mr. Roosevelt has given any inkling of the "invasion" timetable. Marshal Stalin naturally wants an early and an all-out British-American attack on "Festung Europa" from the west—and he, too, has the details of the program. In any event, we may be sure that the new Nazi thrust at the Russian lines in a vital sector of the eastern theatre of the war is the prelude to big events.

Into The Seventh Year

AS CHINA ENTERS HER SEVENTH year of war against the brutal Japanese aggressor, liberty-loving peoples the world over will send up prayers of thankfulness that, under the superlative leadership of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, a gallant nation still fights on with supreme confidence in the final outcome of the conflict.

It is a fortunate circumstance that this anniversary of China's struggle against great odds finds Allied forces gradually shaking the hold of Nippon in the south Pacific. Recent successes scored by General MacArthur's men no doubt are bringing a measure of comfort and consolation to a brave people the extent of whose sacrifices since the summer of 1937 will never be known. There have been times since Pearl Harbor when it appeared almost impossible for China to survive, when the constant cry from Chungking for more aid from the United States and Great Britain went virtually unheeded; and only now are hopes deferred showing signs of some realization. Through all these tragic years, with their toll of millions of lives, General Chiang Kai-shek has uttered no complaint. With nothing but the pledges of the Allied Nations to sustain him, this incomparable leader of men, this saintly son of China, has remained the inspiration of a people whose lexicon does not contain the word defeat.

How long it will take to drive out the vile enemy from Chinese soil no man can say. All the rest of the Allied world can hope is that the gallant Generalissimo will obtain that comparatively small measure of relief in the shape of more and better equipment before it is too late. Our Far Eastern ally's victories on the Yangtze front have provided the proof that the indomitable spirit of the Chinese is still high. Before another anniversary comes round let us hope that victory in Asia will be in sight.

Harvest excursions from Ontario and other eastern provinces used to be a feature of Canadian life. Like a lot of other things, the war has put them in reverse. Now the news reports tell us of harvest excursions from the prairies to the labor-denuded farms of Ontario.

With Allied air power on the rise, it is inevitable that Rome's position should be discussed. The problem, as put by the New York Herald-Tribune is, "Rome contains the capital of Christendom, but by a tragic paradox it also contains the capital of Fascism. There is much in Rome we would be sorry to bomb. But over these treasures, the Italian government assumed trusteeship. It has not managed the trust well. It has gambled by declaring war on nations which only wished to live at peace with Italy. Now that an accounting is required, she can hardly reply that the stakes were not hers to risk."

I just doubt that Mr. Winch and his friends have the wisdom to do it and I am rather appalled at the prospect of the bureaucracy he will set up to regulate not merely our public life but our jobs and hence our private life.

Of course Mr. Coldwell would not go so far. He is miles apart in thinking from Mr. Winch. He is a gradualist and doubtless winced at Mr. Winch's proclamation of a "militant revolution," but Mr. Winch is nearer office than Mr. Coldwell at the moment.

Bruce Hutchison

A WHILE BACK I ventured to write a piece in an eastern paper concerning the views of Mr. T. C. Douglas, Mr. Coldwell's right-hand man in Parliament, and a very able exponent of Socialism. In brief, I said it was remarkable that Mr. Douglas should be publicly deplored the growth of a huge wartime bureaucracy in Ottawa when he himself was expounding the theory of the Socialist state in Canada. For it seemed to me that a socialist state would inevitably involve a much larger and a permanent bureaucracy.

Victorians in particular, nonetheless his legion of friends in many parts of Canada, will also have learned with more than ordinary satisfaction and pleasure that the Minister of Justice has selected Mr. A. D. Macfarlane, K.C., to fill the vacancy on the Supreme Court occasioned by the translation of Mr. Justice Robertson to the province's highest tribunal. It is a refreshing decision on the part of the Dominion's chief law officer, not only because the new justice is eminently suited for the post to which he is going, but also because the appointment is one in which merit alone has counted. This is as it should be.

The fortunate possessor of a long-range mind, Mr. Justice Macfarlane will be able to bring into intelligent focus the complexities of these times, not only as they must be studied and evaluated from the judicial sense, but also analyzed from the essentially human point of view. An omnivorous reader since boyhood, a student of history and an inveterate devotee of the classics, he has acquired a veritable reservoir of knowledge other than that to be found between the covers of legal textbooks. With this comprehensive background, coupled with his many fine personal qualities, he should make an excellent judge and bring additional honor to the bench.

A Great Patriot

DEATH BY TRAGIC MISADVENTURE has come to Poland's General Wladyslaw Sikorski. He was a statesman of high order, a patriot in whom his people had supreme faith, and as a soldier he was the symbol of eventual liberation of the Polish nation.

Only a few days ago he had been with his troops in Egypt—the largest Polish unit fighting with the United Nations. As Mr. Churchill aptly said in his tribute to General Sikorski's memory in the House of Commons this afternoon, his passing from the scene is "one of the heaviest strokes we have sustained." It is all the more tragic because the head of the Polish government-in-exile had surmounted many difficulties which at times threatened to cause a serious rift between his unhappy country and the Soviet Union—now presumably composed. All the Allied world will be deeply touched by his untimely death.

An Interesting Anniversary

NOT MANY PEOPLE PERHAPS REALIZE when they pass through Kamloops that progressive and thriving community was incorporated as city half a century ago. Possibly even fewer still know that its name is an Indian word meaning the "meeting of the waters." For there the North Thompson flows into the South Thompson.

Very appropriately did the citizens of the "capital of the Interior" celebrate their 50th civic anniversary last week. They have much of which to be proud. While the period of which goes for "war prosperity" may not have provided Kamloops with swollen payrolls, huge expenditures on military establishments, or the hundred and one temporary material advantages which generally cease when the clash of battle is silenced, the city's economy for long has rested on a solid foundation.

Kamloops is a divisional point for both Canada's transcontinental railway systems and the hub of a vast and varied rural industry—the distributing centre for a hard-working farming population. To be sure, dividends earned by basic industry are affected by economic cycles which, in turn, influence railway traffic in general. But an imaginative and enterprising community such as this inland city learns to gear its domestic activities accordingly. And how successfully Kamloops have managed their affairs during the first 50 years of incorporation is best characterized by the pardonable pride with which they have marked this auspicious occasion.

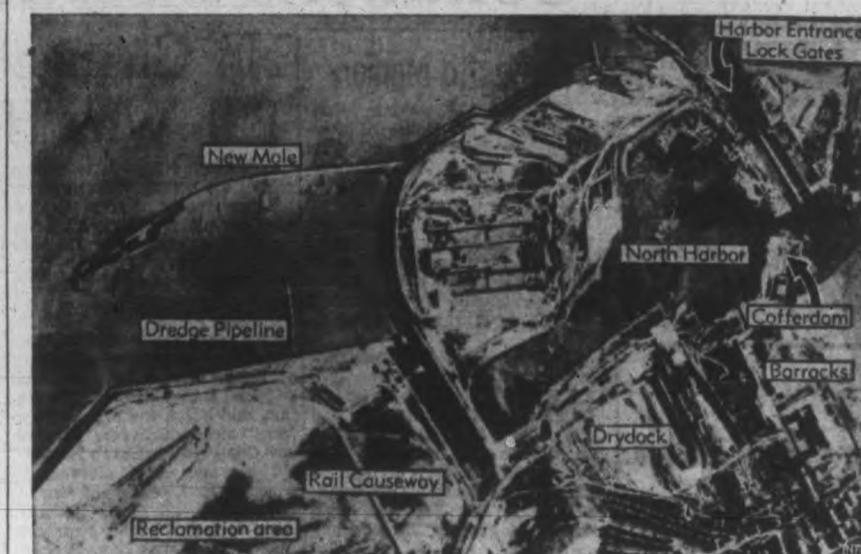

Nor should the fact be overlooked that during the years ahead, for the rest of this century—which Sir Wilfrid Laurier once said was destined to be Canada's—Kamloops should be able confidently to look forward to its own contribution to that social and material progress for which British Columbia as a whole must strive.

Bomb Targets—Wilhelms haven—Nazi Naval Arsenal

Wilhelmshaven, birthplace of the famous warships Scharnhorst and Von Tirpitz and scores of lesser known craft, is Germany's chief naval station and hence a magnet for Allied bombers attempting to write a flaming history to the Reich's furiously paced shipbuilding. Wilhelmshaven was built in 1853, two years after Prussia purchased the four-square-mile site from the Duke of Oldenburg. The prewar population was about 30,000, but under Hitler's exhortations for more warships and U-boats to win world rule, Wilhelmshaven swelled to some 77,000. Heavily walled and fortified drydocks and shipyards constitute the city's industrial livelihood, along with handling of coal and lumber imports. It was here in 1918 that crews of two German battleships rose up in a mutiny that infected the whole German fleet and ended in national revolution. The picture above of the naval installations was taken in 1940, before a new harbor entrance was cut just inside the mole.

Perfect International Co-operation

By HARRY P. HODGES

EXCELLENT! Couldn't have gone better! Exceeded all expectations!"

Thus did New York's dynamic Mayor Fiorella LaGuardia express himself to half a dozen newspapermen to whom he explained the successful operations of the permanent Canadian-United States Joint Board of Defense in his suite in Hotel Vancouver last Saturday afternoon. And Colonel O. M. Biggar, in his role of chairman of the Canadian section of the board, nodded unhesitating confirmation of his American counterpart's exclamations.

But this does not affect the question raised by Mr. Douglas: for once the national government undertakes to plan the whole national economy for the good of the whole people, then it must control money, wages, prices and foreign trade as a bare minimum. This Mr. Douglas will not deny.

And how are these things to be controlled? By mere intuition? By inspiration? By the natural goodness of human nature? No, they will be controlled, as they are being controlled now in wartime, by men, by bureaucrats.

Mr. Douglas really admits what I said in the first place that he is not arguing about the existence of a bureaucracy under the C.C.F. but about its quality and virtue. He vigorously attacks the present bureaucrats of Ottawa as big business men who are controlling the economy for the benefit of certain classes. His bureaucracy, on the other hand, would operate only for the public good.

This also sounds fine but does not answer the original point, that you cannot have a planned state, whether socialistic, capitalistic or fascist without a huge bureaucracy; and in every country where this has been tried the bureaucracy presently is pushing everyone around, as it must, even if this is done with the highest motives for the public good.

Mr. Douglas will be on much stronger ground if he admits this necessity, for the public is not stupid enough to imagine that the vast revolution proposed by the C.C.F. can be achieved by auto-suggestion, a mere trick performed with mirrors. It will mean pushing around on a grand scale. Let Mr. Douglas say that this will be done efficiently, honestly and for everyone's good and he will have a case. Let him say that it will be done painlessly, without human hands—a kind of miracle bursting through the heavens in a blazing light—and he will encourage people to disbelieve his more reasonable claims.

As far as I am concerned (as if anyone but Mr. Douglas cared about my views) I would go a long way in nationalizing of monopolies and public utilities. I would not hesitate to take them over and run them because the state can usually make a good job of that.

But when Mr. Harold Winch tells us, as he did the other day, that the C.C.F. government of British Columbia will take over all our "major resources and industries," when I picture Mr. Winch and his present caucus in the Legislature running our timber, mining, agricultural and fishing industries and all the complicated mechanism by which British Columbia lives, then I lack the courage for it.

I just doubt that Mr. Winch and his friends have the wisdom to do it and I am rather appalled at the prospect of the bureaucracy he will set up to regulate not merely our public life but our jobs and hence our private life.

Mr. Hutchison asks us in effect to believe that what he describes as one of the finest poems in the English language has a trivial theme, which amounts to a contradiction in terms. In spite of his studies in Grade 8, or possibly because of them, the youthful student evidently failed completely to get inside Shelley's famous ode. Possibly his teacher tried to explain it, with the inevitable result of explaining it away. Burroughs (whom Mr. Hutchison will recognize as an American naturalist) describes the skylark's song as "abounding, multitudinous, the notes nearly all alike and in the same key, but rapid, swarming, prodigal, showering down as thick and fast as drops of rain in a summer shower." That might pass as a description of the poem though not for Grade 8. If I were introducing "To a Skylark" to that class, I would read it aloud, extending myself to the dangled the bait of the proposal to connect British Columbia's road system with the Alaska Highway. Neither rose to it. This subject was not on the agenda. By interpretation, this was another way of telling us that "the military" had not advised the Board on the matter so far.

His Worship stroked the bowl of his pipe, looked out of the window, apparently thinking more about the ball game at which he was scheduled to appear than the policies and aspirations of this province. And the simple explanation of both chairman in this regard left nothing more to be said on the point.

HUGE SUCCESS

"The success of your Board," I suggested to New York's colorful chief magistrate, "is another impressive demonstration to the world of how two neighbors can work harmoniously and effectively together in their solution of their common problems." If the "Little Flower" had been thinking of baseball a second before, he was back to earth in a flash with: "Exactly; yes, and some thought it couldn't be done."

It was at this point that Gotham's mayor let out the exclamations set out at the beginning of this report of the press conference. And he meant what he said. Then he flung a question of his own:

"What is Canada doing about housing?"

THIS SOUNDS FISHY

From Calgary Herald

A story is going around Turner Valley to the effect that a baby was born and there weren't any scales to weigh him with, so somebody said well, why not borrow Dave Blacklock's fish scales (Mr. Blacklock being a noted fisherman). So they borrowed Mr. Blacklock's scales, and weighed the baby, and the scales said 42 pounds and everybody said that's right, but why dogmatize about it? By the way, has anyone ever claimed that the skylark is the most tuneful of birds? Burroughs didn't, nor did Shelley, Wordsworth or Hogg (worthy compatriot of Burns). They all regarded it as a joyous creature of light and air and motion, whose nest is in the stubble and whose tryst is in the clouds." Wordsworth has a superb line in his "To a Skylark"—a line which I think only a fighter-pilot could appreciate fully:

"A privacy of glorious light is thine."

Mr. Hutchison complains that the song of the lark he heard "was not Shelley." Of course it wasn't. Neither was it Skylark. It took two kindred spirits to produce the ode—the lark and Shelley. There were also two collaborators on the more recent occasion, a columnist and a judge, and the resulting printed matter is almost pure Hutchison, the judge's contribution being a mere incitement to contempt of court.

HE PAID AND LOST

From Edmonton Bulletin

A man bought a $4,800 farm near Edmonton. According to the Calgary Herald, he has paid $5,600 on the farm, but has been evicted because he still owes another $5,600. The man has a wife and eight children and when he was evicted, their furniture and other belongings were piled up along the highway.

If this Alberta farmer has paid $5,600 on the farm he bought and still owes another $5,600 on it, that means that if he kept up his payments in the future he would have paid $11,200 for a $4,800 property.

This may sound crazy, but there is really nothing strange about it. A man who buys a $4,000 house and lot from the city of Ottawa pays about $7,000 for the property when his payments are spread over 20 years. If payments fall behind, interest accumulates, and it would be possible for the man to pay $20,000 for a house and lot priced at $4,000.

But in the case of the Alberta farmer, there seems to be something particularly tragic and unjust in the predicament in which circumstances have landed him. He probably went in for growing grain, and for years he struggled against forces over which he had no control to feed his family and pay for his farm.

The fact that he had paid $5,600 on his farm—$800 more than the purchase price—is evidence that he was no ne'er-do-well and honestly endeavored to meet his obligations.

Yet today he is out on the street, or rather the prairie highway, and farm and $5,600 in hard-earned cash have gone beyond recall.

Of course, it is all strictly according to law and the rules of the game—but is it any wonder that Alberta people elected and re-elected a government which says that the present financial system has to be reformed?

Weddings

NICHOLLS-ATKINSON

At a fully choral ceremony in the Open Door Spiritualist Church Saturday evening, Ethel, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Atkinson, 1321 Balmoral Road, became the bride of Harold Nicholls, R.A.F., third son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Nicholls, Rosemary, Kingstone, Herts, England. Rev. Walter Holder officiated and Mrs. Edith Mayell presided at the organ. During the signing of the register Mrs. Mayell sang "I Love You Truly."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an embroidered frock of queen's blue flat crepe, with matching floral hat and carried an arm bouquet of Ophelia roses. Miss Mary Atkinson attended her sister as bridesmaid, wearing a sheer gown of periwinkle blue with white off-the-face hat, and carried a colonial bouquet of mixed sweet peas.

Mrs. Atkinson, the bride's mother, wore a gown of jade-green crepe, and was assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. Mayell, who wore a floral silk dress. The groomsman was Cpl. I. Love, R.A.F., M.T., and the usher was Mr. Geo. Lingley.

The church was beautifully decorated by the friends of the young couple, with masses of summer flowers, the predominating tones being white and mauve. The guest seats were marked by streamers and nosegays of sweet peas. At the reception which followed, the bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, between silver vases of pink roses. A musical program was enjoyed.

The bride and groom left for a honeymoon at Salt Spring Island and on their return will reside in Victoria.

WARDMAN-ADAMS

Standard baskets of delphiniums, larkspur and dahlias formed a pretty setting in St. John's Church Monday evening for the marriage of Phyllis Anne, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Adams, 1444 Haultain Street, and John Charles Everett Wardman, 635 Rothwell Street. Rev. F. Comley performed the ceremony, and the church organist was in attendance. During the signing of the register, Miss Hazel Jackson sang "O Perfect Love."

A floor-length gown of white embossed satin, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and long pointed sleeves, was worn by the bride, who was given away by her father. A sweetheart head-dress of lace and orange blossoms caught her finger-tip veil of embroidered net, and she carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and white sweet peas. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. Miss Gladys Wilson, in turquoise, and Miss Marjorie Richardson in pink, were bridesmaids, wearing similar sheer frocks, styled with full skirts and bishop sleeves. They carried fan-shaped bouquets of suntan snapdragons and pink carnations, and wore garlands of the same flowers in their hair. Mr. S. Johnston supported the groom, and Messrs.

Given away by her father, the bride wore an afternoon frock of slate blue triple sheer, with a coronet of fresh Sweetheart roses and swallows in her hair, and carrying a bouquet of pink roses and carnations. Only attendant was Miss Arlene Dovey, in dusty rose sheer, with a garland of blue delphiniums and swallows on her head, and she carried pink carnations and sweet peas. Mr. Herbert C. Harvey was best man, and Mr. William Murton was usher.

Summer flowers in profusion were arranged at the home of the bride's parents, where the reception was held. Mr. George W. Johnston, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast, after which she cut the cake. White tapers and vases of pink sweet peas decorated the table.

After a honeymoon at Shawnigan Lake and Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey will make their home on Gladstone Avenue. Traveling, the bride wore a white ensemble, blue topcoat, and corsage bouquet of sweet peas.

SMITH-ALEXANDER

The wedding took place Saturday, June 26, in St. Mark's Church, Rev. O. L. Jull officiating, of Annie Helen, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Alexander, 120 Regina Avenue, and Mr. Roland W. Smith, second son of Mr. and Mrs. I. Smith, Canterbury Road. The church organist played the wedding marches, and Miss Dolly Rutledge sang "Because" during the signing of the register.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a gown of white triple sheer over satin styled with a long, fitted bodice, and a full skirt slightly en train. Her full-length embroidered veil fell to the groom's station.

Mr. T. R. Myers played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Dolly Rutledge, who sang "O Perfect Love" as the bridal party were in the vestry.

After the ceremony a reception for relatives and intimate friends was held at the home of the groom's parents, Mrs. Youngs, wearing a powder blue ensemble with navy accessories, being assisted in receiving by Mrs. Schwabe, wearing a grey and yellow floral print dress with black accessories and a short dyed squirrel jacket. The buffet supper was served from a lace-covered table, centred with the wedding cake, lighted ivory tapers and vases of pink and white flowers.

After a honeymoon at Qualicum, the young couple will make their home in Vancouver, where a full skirt slightly en train. Her full-length embroidered veil fell to the groom's station.

For the youngsters it was a real field day, as they went about clutching oversized wieners and buns, drinking pop (the supply of which was eeked out with bottles of milk), and competing in all the races.

John Carmichael was chairman of committees for the occasion, and the heads of other committees were: Grounds, J. Woods; sports, D. Woods; refreshments, B. Moore and F. Popham; prizes, Miss Tront; gate, L. Shouldice; entertainment, P. Ross and Bert White; reception, A. Clyde; finance, R. Leeman; and publicity, A. Bond.

During the day a tombola with many wonderful prizes was run off and a collection in aid of the Solarium was taken up during the afternoon.

850 B.C. School Cadets Invade Duncan for Camp

By STAFF REPORTER

DUNCAN—School army cadets, from all parts of British Columbia, totaling more than 850, with cadet and regular army instructors, have "invaded" this wartime quiet town. The cadets are here for 10 days' intensive practical training.

Two hundred and fifty bell tents house the cadets on the camp grounds at Evans Field; the scene in peacetime of sporting events and community festivities. Forty-one big marquees serve as hospital and as administrative and mess buildings.

The cadets arrived here Thursday. The camp had been all prepared for the youthful army by a force of 50 regular army officers and men who erected the tents and built kitchens, washstands and the hospital.

G.O.C. INSPECTS

Already the camp has been visited and inspected by ranking army officers, including Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., D.S.O., M.C., G.O.C.-in-Chief, Pacific Command, and Maj.-Gen. A. E. Potts, C.B.E., E.D., O.C. of troops on Vancouver Island.

Wednesday morning Gen. Pearkes will review the cadets at the Duncan Athletic Grounds. The Work Point Garrison Band will be in attendance.

Following the parade he will be guest for dinner at the officers' mess. The band during the afternoon will play at the King's Daughter's Hospital.

Scheduled to visit the camp for three days beginning Wednesday is Lt.-Col. N. E. Vaulet, assistant director of cadets, National Defence Headquarters, Ottawa.

Visitors' day has been announced for Wednesday. Guests will be invited to inspect the camp in the afternoon.

The cadets throughout the past school year received extensive theoretical training. Purpose of the camp is to put them through a refresher course. The remainder are receiving a six-week course to be concluded July 28 so that they may qualify as full instructors.

Besides the cadet instructors, who are school teachers in their civilian capacities, the training staff also includes a group of active army officers and men.

Since their arrival at the camp the army cadets have been engaged in setting up camp and preparing for the inspection Wednesday. The cadets, with cadet officers directing them, Saturday and again Monday marched past the saluting base at the Duncan Athletic Grounds.

"The boys are very enthusiastic.

Monday morning and afternoon training in field work, woodcraft, map and compass reading and signaling by both Morse code and flags, began. This part of the work has been entered into enthusiastically by the cadets.

STUDY MACHINE GUNS

The field training includes instruction in the use of Bren and Lewis guns as well as the regular army rifle, the Lee-Enfield. The cadets during their school training have received much target practice with lighter and other types of guns.

Woodcraft training includes bivouacking which got underway Monday afternoon when two companies of cadets marched to the bush lands to prepare night quarters and fires. No equipment was used except axes and knives to prepare comfortable beds and good cooking fires for living in the woods.

Throughout the training and camp life, cadets have been officered by their cadet commanders. The camp set-up has been planned to approximate as nearly as possible regular military life.

RSM. G. S. Poupore, Vancouver, Lord Byng High School student and cadet head of the Seaforth cadets, is brigade commander. One cadet instructor has been assigned to each company to act as an adviser and overseer.

The Seaforth Cadet Band of 11

pipers and seven drummers has added color to camp life and parades.

All cadets attending the camp are volunteers. Attendance is lower than was expected because a large proportion of the cadets have accepted summer employment.

GOVERNMENT GUESTS

More than 40 cadet units, with a total personnel of 16,000, are represented at the camp. Some cadets came from as far away as Prince George and Fernie. During the 10-day camp they are guests of the government. Their transportation was provided.

On arrival at the camp each cadet was medically inspected and received four blankets, a ground sheet, a straw-filled paillasse, a bolster, a pair of khaki cotton pants, a shirt and a sun helmet.

The cadets sleep on the ground, six to a bell tent.

The day for the cadets starts at 6:30. After dressing, washing and making their beds, they go through a short physical training period before falling in for breakfast.

Training parade starts at 8:30 and continues until noon. Dinner is at 12:15. Afternoon training gets underway at 1:30 and continues until 4. Between training and supper at 5:15 the cadets are given a recess during which they may take advantage of supervised swimming.

Organized sports and motion picture shows of army training and armies in action are conducted during the evening. Cadets are permitted to leave the camp if passes have been issued by their commanding officer.

A light snack of soup and biscuits is served at 9:30. The cadets end their day, most of them tired, at 10 when lights go off.

One company of cadets each day is detailed to keeping the camp in order and assist regular army cooks in the kitchen and with cleaning up.

GENEVE'S HELPINGS

Cadets have taken advantage of unrationed army food. Although they complain it is not "like mother makes," they relish generous helpings of roast meat, heaps of potatoes and onions, and liberal servings of butter, sugar, tea and coffee—foods which recently have become less common to their tables at home.

Rations are brought in daily by truck from Victoria. Although a regular army quartermaster sergeant has charge, cadet officers inspect the foods on their distribution to the kitchens.

A camp hospital with accommodation for a dozen patients is in operation. An ambulance and jeep for the doctor stand ready at all times. The camp physician reports, however, he has attended only minor cuts and bruises, suffered during training or while on kitchen duty.

The cadets for the most part consider the camp a wartime holiday, with necessary hardships attached. They enter into their training enthusiastically. The morale of the camp is excellent.

NOT ALL TO JOIN ARMY

Although they receive training in army routine, not all cadets intend to join the army when they leave high school. Many cadets indicated they would join the air force and navy before they are drafted into the army.

For the most part the cadet officers have accepted the army as the goal of their training.

Army officers who are instructing the cadets report the military training will be of value regardless of what service cadets enter. On joining up, the officers said, the cadets will enter whatever branch they chose, with not only a good background but a training which will cushion the necessary adjustment from civilian to military life.

The training in discipline will not be wasted if the cadets never enter the services, instructors said.

The camp, the first away from home for many of the youths, will break up Sunday.

2 Island Soldiers Die in Jap Camps

Two Vancouver Island men, Sgmn. Thomas Redhead, R.C.S., of Victoria, and Pte. Paul M. Cusson, Quebec Regiment, Nanaimo, are included in a list of one officer and 38 other ranks who died while prisoners of war. All were captured by Japanese at the fall of Hong Kong, December, 1941.

Sgmn. Redhead is a son of Robert Redhead, Quadra and Mason. Pte. Cusson's next of kin being his mother, Mrs. Mary Cusson, 31 Pridaue Street, Nanaimo.

Cadets Mourn Loss Of Camp Mascot, Mongrel Dog

By STAFF REPORTER

DUNCAN—No army camp, not even the Royal Canadian Army Cadet camp here, would be complete without a mascot.

The cadets, who arrived Thursday from all parts of British Columbia, failed to bring with them a mascot, but one was adopted the day of their arrival. Now it is dead, but a new mascot has been adopted.

The mascot career, of an unnamed mongrel dog, owned by a citizen near the camp at Evans Field, lasted but three days. Today in the small simple grave, bedecked with many flowers, the original cadet camp mascot rests, but his memory is still bright in the minds of the 850 cadets.

Arrival of the cadets and the setting up of camp proved an interesting experience for the mascot, who knew the camp so short a time that no name became common to him.

Thursday, while the cadets prepared for their 10-day stay, the mascot frisked about getting acquainted with the youths. Friday he followed the cadet parade and training. Saturday he was killed by a falling board.

REPLACE DOG

The death of mascot was taken seriously by the cadets who contributed $16 to buy a new dog for the owner. The cadets felt responsible for the dog's death, although it was an accident.

Monday a pup was purchased for $5. Cadet officers were at a loss to know how to spend the remaining $11. Two collars, one a pup and one for a grown dog, and a colorful plastic leach, have been purchased, but $5 is still left.

Today the pup, at an impulsive ceremony, with the Seaforth Cadet Band in attendance, was presented to the bereaved owners of the late camp mascot, RSM. G. A. Poupore, brigade commander, made the presentation.

Well Baby Clinic At Ganges Harbor

Under the auspices of Ganges Women's Institute, with the president, Mrs. B. G. Wolfe-Merton in charge, Dr. G. W. Meyer, attending physician, and Mrs. Nell Smith, attendant nurse, the first of the Well Baby Clinics was held in the health room of the Consolidated School.

It is hoped these clinics for pre-school-age children will be well attended, and arrangements have been made for their being held on the fourth Thursday of each month at 3, when examination and advice will be given free. Mothers wishing to have their children vaccinated for smallpox, or inoculated for diphtheria, can do so free of charge at the July clinic, when they may avail themselves of the offer.

War Stamps Buy Submarine Killers

Depth charges, the Royal Canadian Navy's chief weapon against Nazi U-boats, are not used solely by ships of war afloat. The deadly T.N.T.-packed "ash cans" are a standard equipment of the R.C.A.F., whose long-range patrol planes keep a watchful eye on our coasts and convoy our ships far out to sea.

The record of "kills" made by crews of R.C.A.F. planes is impressive. Recently, one Canadian patrol plane came upon a surfaced submarine in the Atlantic and, before it could dive, dropped three depth charges with such precision that one of them actually hit and bounced off the conning tower, exploding in the water alongside. A terrific concussion marked the exit of another undersea killer!

To keep the Canadian navy and air force supplied with depth charges is the job of Canadians at home. Sponsored by the National War Finance Committee, a "Stamp Out the U-boat" campaign opened Monday and will continue until July 31, during which time it is hoped to sell sufficient War Savings Stamps to purchase 15,000 depth charges. Minister of Finance J. L. Ilsley stated that every cent collected during the five-week drive would

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbraith

"I wish you wouldn't insist on a big wedding, Mother—after wearing these work clothes for a year, I'll feel awfully silly in that outfit!"

Dorothy Dix:

Dear Miss Dix: A certain man, who has long been a good friend of ours, is overseas with my husband, fighting for his country. Since he left the states his wife has become the common-law wife of an army officer and lived with him at different points until he also was sent to the Front. Now she has the insurance policies and the allotments of both of these men and at present is living at the home of the army officer's parents, who think that she is married to their son.

Now here is where I come in: She has the letters from her husband sent to my address and has me send them on to her, addressed in the name of the army officer. The husband is a fine man, but he and his wife did not get along very well together. What shall I do to straighten out this mess?

WORRIED.

ACCESSORY TO BIGAMIST DANGEROUS ROLE

Answer: If you go on forwarding the husband's letters to his wife, you become a party to her deceiving him, and this will put you in a very hot spot when he finds out about it, as he certainly will.

I appreciate that no one likes to be an informer and that it is a difficult and delicate matter to tell a husband that his wife is betraying him, but in such a flagrant case of utter disloyalty I think it is your duty to at least write to your husband and tell him the whole story and let him use his judgment about informing his friend of the state of affairs. As you say, the couple did not get along very well together, perhaps the husband had reason to suspect his wife of misconduct before this and that he will be very glad to free himself of her by divorcing her.

But what about the officer who has been taking this woman around with him as his wife and then imposing her upon his family? Is it possible that she deceived him also and that he thinks that he is legally married to her? How else could she get hold of his allotment and his insurance policy?

Certainly while we must deplore the lady's morals, we must admit that she must be a fascinating and an accomplished gold-digger.

Dear Miss Dix: What do you think of a boy who insists upon discussing sex matters freely with a girl? Should she listen to him, or does it cheapen her?

YOUNG GIRL.

Answer: It cheapens her. It soils her. Out of the heart the mouth speaketh, so have nothing to do with a boy who is not clean in his talk. He is foul-minded.

needed to guard the animal's health. Here, in shortened form, is an account she gave of her monkey, nicknamed "Red," as he was at the age of 14 months:

"Red is given beans, peas, carrots, boiled and baked potatoes and other vegetables. He will eat all kinds of meat, whether fried, roasted, boiled or broiled.

"Best of all he likes spaghetti, and fills both hands with it when he is eating. He is fed three times a day, being seated in a high chair beside a table.

"Red has the run of the house. A wicker basket with bits of blanket serves as his bed. When he is tired, he hops in and takes a nap.

"One thing Red is afraid of is a human sneeze. Just why, we do not know. If anyone sneezes, Red rushes for shelter. He usually hides under a chair."

Another fact which Miss Dittmars learned about Red was that he would lose his reddish color in taking a bath. For a day or two his hair would be yellowish, but a reddish dye came from the pores of his skin and gave him a red color again by the end of a week.

Ganges Ladies' Aid

The members of the Ladies' Aid of Ganges United Church held their regular monthly meeting at Ganges Inn on Thursday afternoon, Mrs. J. Dewar presiding and taking the devotional period.

The financial report showed a balance of $43.50 on hand. All bills were voted paid and $30 voted to the church fund.

Reports were heard from Dorcas secretary and the hospital visitor, and the secretary asked to send a letter of congratulation and flowers to a member in hospital.

Arrangements were made for holding the annual combined Sunday school and Ladies' Aid picnic, which this year will be held on July 28 at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Parsons, overlooking Ganges harbor, which they are kindly lending for the occasion. A new member was welcomed. The next meeting will be at Ganges Inn on Aug. 5.

761 Families Find No Accommodation Here

A total of 761 families for whom no housing accommodation can be found are at present listed with the National Housing Registry at Victoria, Mrs. W. E. Rayfuse, manager, stated Monday, in giving her monthly report for June.

The Registry placed 797 people in accommodation, but 1,050 applications, representing 1,787 people, were made during the month. Of that number 1,054 were resident in Victoria under one month, she said.

A number of the men here who have come to work at shipyards and have been accommodated in staff houses are now bringing their wives and families," Mrs. Rayfuse said, as she spoke of the necessity for obtaining housing for shipyard workers if production of war essentials is to be kept up to requirements.

The 1,050 applications received for June, 595 were from families of servicemen, 425 from families of war workers and essential civilians, and 30 from civilians in non-essential categories, she continued.

R. M. Syer, Ottawa, retail consultant, management service division, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, will visit Victoria from July 7 to July 10 to explain the manner in which the management service division is organized to assist retail trade, Mrs. Rayfuse said. He will address a meeting of the W.R.A.C. Friday at 2.

Work Under Way For Chlorinators

While the city awaits arrival of chlorination equipment for its domestic water supply, work is proceeding in preparation for the installations, it was learned at the City Hall today.

Delegates from Vancouver, New Westminster, Nanaimo, Fulford Harbor and Shawnigan Lake will be present, and reports from churches, camp and Physical Research College will be given. Election of officers will be held. Rev. Walter Holder, president of council, will preside.

Victoria City and District Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society has received the following information by telegram from national office which is of interest to next-of-kin and friends of prisoners of war: "Geneva cables under date of June 9 that all letters for air force prisoners in Germany should be addressed Stalag Luft Three, with addition in brackets of camp where prisoner actually interned. This does not apply to parcels, which should be sent direct to prisoner's known address. All prisoners in Oflag Twenty-Two are now transferred to Stalag Luft Three."

One more resignation from the teaching staff was accepted, bringing the number to eight.

The latest leaving the service is Miss Margaret Stewart, four teachers, Miss Isla Tuck, Miss A. N. Anderson, J. A. Armstrong and R. G. Goldfinch, retired this year, while resignation had previously been accepted from Miss Louise Noble, Miss Mildred Dunigan and Mrs. Marjorie Coton.

Freezing regulations covering teachers, announced Monday, were not expected to interfere with replacements. While teachers may not leave jobs to take up posts in war industry, according to the board's understanding, they may transfer from one school to another.

The meeting Monday night also considered establishment of a second junior craft school which may be opened when the school year starts. The one in operation at the close of the last school year, will be continued.

War Savings Stamps Help His Job

Through his earphone, a Royal Canadian naval rating listens for the signal from the bridge to release a depth charge from the Y-gun. The seas must be kept open for the safe passage of convoys and the men of Canada's navy are doing their part in protecting the convoys' passage. But they need depth charges to combat the U-boat menace so Hon. J. L. Ilsley has announced that all War Savings Stamps bought during July will be used to purchase depth charges, which cost $90 each. The national objective is $1,350,000 or 15,000 depth charges. British Columbia and the Yukon have been given a quota of 1,200 depth charges which will cost $108,000. The quota for Victoria is $15,750, which will buy 175 of submarine-killing "ash cans." The Dominion-wide drive will last until the end of July.
